

Hello, I'm Russeni Fisher

Spoken Word Artist, Actor &
Freelance Facilitator

Socials: @russeni

Short Film: 'Sorry Fi Disturb Yuh'

MY JOB DESCRIPTION

Russeni is an explosive actor & poet with unique performance abilities. An acclaimed spoken word artist he has featured widely, including events at the Olympic Park, Southbank and as opening act for The Last Poets at the Love Box Festival 2015. As an actor Russeni has worked extensively with London Bubble Theatre where he developed a passion for creating topical, interactive theatre based on real life experiences. He has just completed his self-written short film 'Sorry Fi Disturb Yuh' directed by Georgia Goggin, so be sure to check it out.

A few tips from me

- Know your worth and ask for that worth
- Your voice is valuable, so never be afraid to share your story
- Take that first step because an open mic could lead you to a Coachella stage.
- Write for you, share your views so some one can be inspired by you.
- Hearing the word 'no', doesn't mean you should give up, just adapt.
